

MANDARIN ORIENTAL BOSPHORUS
ISTANBUL

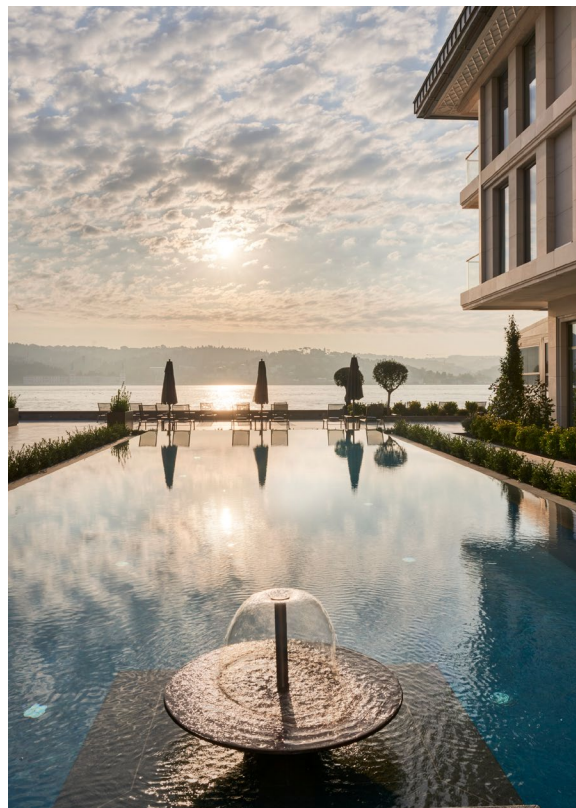

The signature fan of Mandarin Oriental Bosphorus, Istanbul is modernized by fashion designer Erdem Moralioglu with inspiration from ancient Ottoman embroideries, and reflects the exquisitely landscaped gardens of this luxury urban resort.

With a 200m shoreline, Mandarin Oriental Bosphorus, Istanbul is situated in a prime location on the European side of the city, across the Anatolian side, and in proximity to upscale neighborhoods. Nestled in the Naile Sultan pine grove and the sophisticated Kuruçeşme district, the chic and luxurious urban resort promises its guests unparalleled experiences and the opportunity to explore everything that Istanbul has to offer.

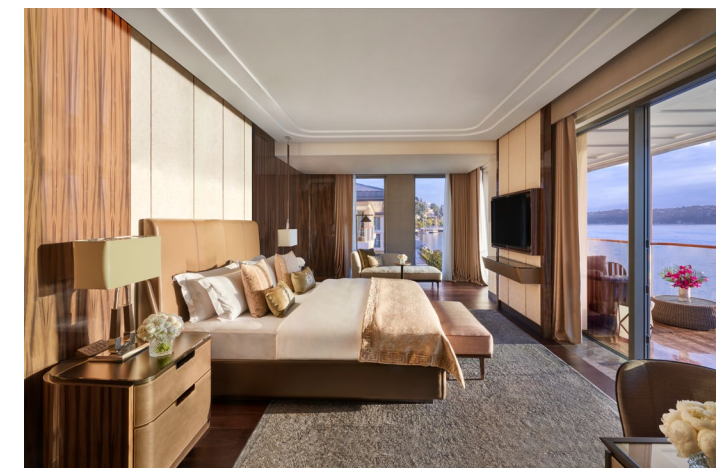

Inspired by the charming waterfront mansions along the Bosphorus and the beautiful palaces of Istanbul, which has been home to countless civilizations throughout history, the New York-based Tihany Design created the interiors of the hotel by blending the rich Ottoman heritage with contemporary design elements.

Mandarin Bosphorus Room

One Bedroom Bosphorus Suite

Influenced by the Bosphorus and the magnificent waterfront mansions, the design of all the rooms reflects the rich and intriguing spirit of Istanbul. In all the luxuriously appointed rooms featuring spacious living spaces, organic textures and patterns, natural wood panels and accessories, bespoke metal and leather details exude sophistication.

The suites, featuring living and dining rooms, enjoy breathtaking views of the Bosphorus, making the guests feel the deep blue water almost at their feet.

Spread on 474 square meters, Royal Bosphorus Suite is the largest suite of the hotel, offering a great option for small groups with a living and dining room, private gym, and winter garden.
