RESORT GUIDE

BAREFOOT LUXURY ON THE MALDIVES' MOST ICONIC NATURAL ISLANDS

The journey begins long before arrival.

From above, the Maldives reveals itself in endless spectrum of blues that's been called the Conrad Blue. As the seaplane lifts from Malé and glides south across the Indian Ocean, coral reefs, sandbanks and islands emerge from the water below. Then, on the horizon, two natural islands connected by a 500-metre bridge come into view.

Set in the South Ari Atoll, one of the few places in the Maldives where whale sharks can be encountered year round, Conrad Maldives Rangali Island offers a distinctly different perspective on luxury. One shaped by space, freedom and personal choice.

Upon arrival, guests are welcomed with the warmth of traditional Maldivian hospitality and introduced to a resort where every stay unfolds differently. Across 151 villas and suites, from expansive beach retreats to overwater hideaways and the world's first undersea residence, The Muraka, every accommodation is designed to immerse guests in the beauty of the surrounding landscape.

Rangali-Finolhu is the family-friendly zone and social hub of the resort. A place where dining, discovery, wellness and adventure come together across land and sea. Across the bridge, Rangali Island offers a quieter rhythm, home to adults-exclusive spaces, spectacular ocean views and moments of calm shaped by the natural beauty of the Maldives.

Experiences unfold in every direction. Guests can dine beneath the ocean at Ithaa Undersea Restaurant, discover twelve restaurants and bars inspired by flavours from around the world, swim alongside whale sharks and manta rays, explore vibrant coral reefs, or simply spend the afternoon immersed in the colours of the lagoon.

Wellness is woven naturally into island life through two award-winning spas, movement, mindfulness and treatments inspired by the restorative power of land and sea. Alongside these experiences sits a deep commitment to protecting the destination itself through marine conservation, coral restoration and community initiatives that help preserve the South Ari Atoll for future generations.

This is a place where extraordinary experiences become part of everyday island life. Where guests return not only for what they discover, but for how it makes them feel.

As the seaplane descends toward the resort, the twin islands of Rangali and Rangali-Finolhu come into view. From this moment onward, every detail has been thoughtfully considered, beginning with a warm welcome from the team and a smooth arrival at your villa.
