OUR CONSERVATION PROMISE

Conservation through education helps improve people's knowledge, behavior, and attitudes toward protecting the island's unique life and environment. At Reethi Faru Resort, we use a variety of initiatives to reconnect guests with the natural world and promote understanding of the ecological importance of both marine and terrestrial ecosystems.

Solar energy
Installed capacity: 1004 kWh
To operate on sustainable energy, the resort installed 3602 solar panels on the roofs in the back of the house. The solar panels were installed upon phases, and as of right now, the resort has a capacity of 1004 kWh, which is currently the highest in the Maldives. The electrical energy generated is connected to the grid, and 40% of the resort load is run on solar energy during the day without the requirement of diesel consumption.

RO plant
Installed capacity: 3 plants of 150 cubic meters/day and 1 plant of 300 cubic meters/day for domestic usage (bathing/cleaning/laundry) and 1 unit of 50 cubic meters/day for drinking water. The intake of plants is seawater that is desalinated and converted into freshwater. We also have an energy recovery system that is inbuilt in the plants to reduce energy consumption. Reethi fen – our still and sparkling bottled water is 100% produced in-house with strict quality control through these plants.

Wastewater
Organically treated – all sewage water is treated on the island in our state-of-the-art sewage treatment plant. This is then used for gardening purposes and irrigation, with the rest getting recycled back into the ocean. The technology and process used have helped us reduce at least 180 kilolitres/day, which would have been necessary otherwise.

Heat exchangers
Hot water supply on the island is generated through heat exchangers, tagged with the generators, which produce enough heat to generate hot water. Heaters and boilers are not used on the island, thereby reducing the carbon footprint making it one of the most energy-efficient islands in the Maldives.

Biogas plant
Food waste and horticulture waste are segregated from other waste and used to produce biogas used for staff area kitchen for cooking purposes. All 100% waste that is generated is being recycled, and the biogas supplies all three meals that are served for over 350 staff members.

LED lights
99% of lights around the island are LED as part of the resort's conservation plan.

Tree relocation
Our team avoided cutting down trees during construction, and whichever were in the construction area was safely relocated. In addition, mobilization of machinery which would harm corals in our lagoon were avoided, and where required, they were relocated.

Buildings
A combination of soil stabilized earthen blocks and aerated cement blocks were used in creating our buildings. These materials are eco-friendly, function as natural heat insulators and help keep the carbon footprint as low as possible.

Air conditioning
All air-conditioners on the island are non-CFC. Likewise, the refrigerant gas (cooling gas) is eco-friendly with a non-CFC component.

Waste management
Plastic, glass, metal, paper, cardboard, and wood are all separated on the island and shipped away for possible recycling.

Plastic management
RFR collaborates with Parley for the Oceans to manage the plastic waste on the island and to avoid and intercept their entry into the marine ecosystems.

MARINE CONSERVATION AT REETHI FARU RESORT

At Reethi Faru, we recognise the importance of conserving the natural environment and strive to protect it every day. From the very beginning, sustainability has guided our construction practices - when building the water villas and jetties, coral was carefully relocated around the house reef rather than damaged or destroyed.

The crystal-clear turquoise waters of the Maldives are among the nation's greatest treasures, and protecting these fragile marine ecosystems is essential. By preserving the ocean and its inhabitants, we ensure that future generations can experience and appreciate the same natural beauty we enjoy today. This commitment lies at the heart of Reethi Faru's philosophy.

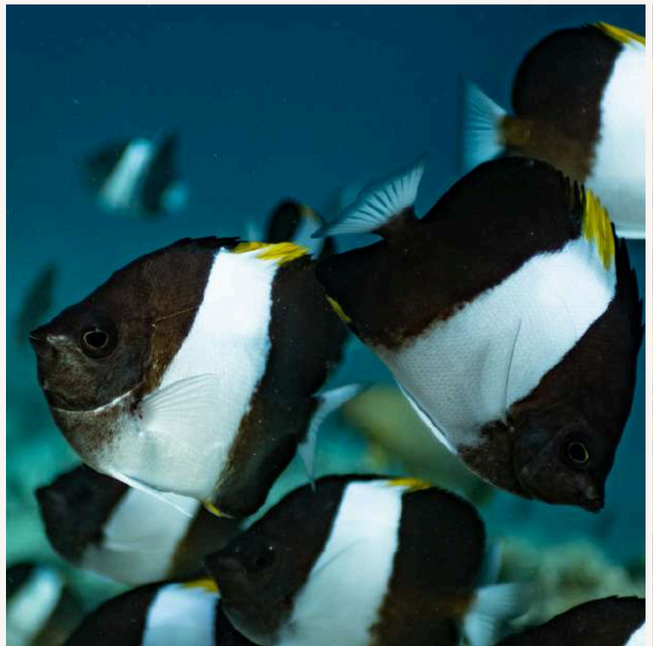

Artificial reefs
Established during the construction phase, our artificial reefs help stimulate coral growth around the island. Additional coral nurseries have been created in both the shallow and deeper areas of the house reef to further support regeneration.
Following the 2016 El Niño event, many coral reefs across the Maldives were severely affected. Artificial reefs play a vital role in restoring these fragile ecosystems and remain one of the resort's key conservation initiatives. Today, we are proud to witness significant coral recovery and regeneration around both our house reef and artificial reef structures.
Healthy coral reefs are essential for sustaining marine biodiversity. The presence of sharks is a strong indicator of a thriving reef ecosystem, and at Reethi Faru Resort, several species of friendly reef sharks can be observed—contributing positively to the balance and vitality of marine life surrounding the island.

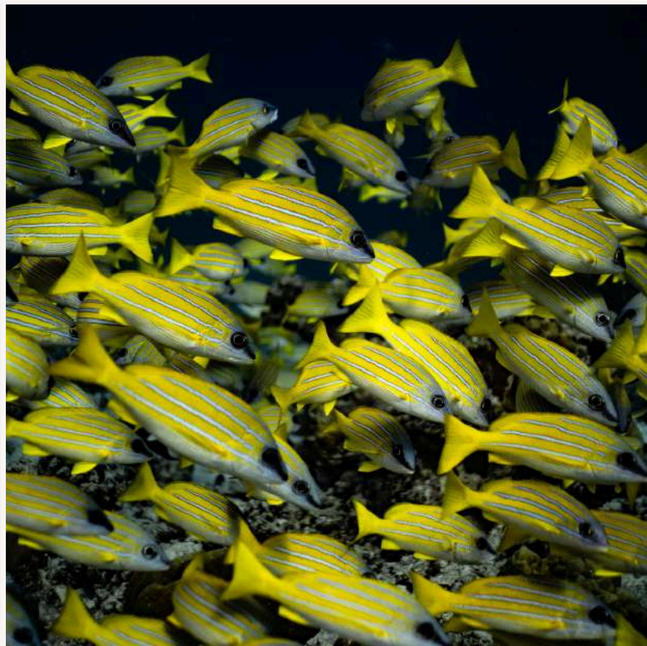

House reef
The house reef offers frequent encounters with curious turtles, graceful eagle rays, reef sharks, playful dolphins, and vibrant schools of tropical fish.

Marine life
Our marine conservation efforts extend to the protection of key megafauna species through collaborations with respected organisations such as the Manta Trust and the Olive Ridley Project, supporting the conservation of manta rays and sea turtles.

Reethi Day
At Reethi Faru, we are committed to protecting both our marine and terrestrial environments. This commitment inspired the creation of our monthly Reethi Day, meaning "Beautiful Day", a dedicated celebration of nature focused on conservation through education and meaningful action.
Guests are warmly invited to join our team in hands-on activities such as coral planting, reef and beach clean-ups, tree planting, guided awareness snorkels, and engaging educational presentations, making Reethi Day a truly shared experience of environmental stewardship.
